(By Associated Press)

New York, June 8.—The appointment of J. H. Hustis, president of the Boston and Maine railroad, as a district director of railroads was announced here today by Alfred H. Smith, regional director of Eastern railroads.

After three weeks or more of delays, confusion and much other trouble, the Portsmouth Electric Street railway established direct car service from Market Square over the Rye line today.

The first car came in to Market Square at noon where several passengers were waiting for the return trip at 12:05.

This part of the system has suffered much since 1915 came in and its troubles date back to the post winter when the people of Rye were compelled to get to and from Portsmouth the best they could. They feel relieved today and hope and trust this service will not be interrupted during the remainder of the summer at least.

U. S. ARMY CAPTAIN NOW SIOUX CHIEF

Mandan, N. D., June 8.—With the passing of Chief John Grass of the Sioux Indians, who recently died at Fort Yates, headquarters of the Standing Rock agency, his mantle falls upon the shoulders of the only white man ever adopted into the tribe. Thus Capt. A. B. Welch of Mandan, adopted son of the old chief, becomes, according to ancient customs of the Sioux, the chief of the tribe.

The new Sioux chief, whose Indian name is Mato-Watkepe, is with the United States Infantry in France, aide of Maj.-Gen. Hunter Liggett. A grandson of John Grass, Albert Grass, is serving with the same division.

Although there were formerly four chiefdoms of the Sioux, only one line remains, and the old chief's sons all being dead, Capt. Welch, by reason of being an adopted son, takes precedence over a grandson in the direct line.

The name Mato-Watkepe is the Sioux war name of the old chief and means "Charging Bear." When he was adopted Capt. Welch chose this name as the one by which he would be known among the Indians.

Capt. Welch for many years has been a student of the Indian customs and formed many friendships with members of the tribe. In 1913, because of a mutual regard that had grown up between the captain and the chief, John Grass, the latter asked the captain if he would be willing to adopt as his son. The captain consented and, conforming to the ancient ceremonies of the Sioux, was taken into the tribe by a service held at Fort Yates, the old trading center. The service began at dawn and lasted until sundown.

WOULD ENLIST PRISONERS IN THE ARMY

New York, June 8.—A plan for enlisting carefully selected inmates of State prisons throughout the country into the army and navy of the United States has been submitted to President Wilson by Mrs. Ballington Booth. It was announced today at the headquarters here of the Prison League of the Volunteers of America. The President is said to have taken the proposal under advisement, and Mrs. Booth expects a final decision in the matter within a few days.

Mrs. Booth's idea is not to form a prison force as a separate unit, as France did, but that they should lose their identity on selection and be drafted in proportions as the military authorities may decide into the various divisions of the army and navy, or at work considered best suited to their capacity.

HOLDS U. S. SOLDIERS IN HIGH ESTEEM

(By Associated Press)

London, June 8.—The high esteem in which England holds the American soldier and sailor is reflected almost daily by the London press. One paper devotes a long article to "American qualities as exhibited by President Wilson," champion light heavyweight boxer of the U. S. Navy. The writer watched him in a contest with the champion of the British Grand Fleet.

"One was forcibly reminded," he says, "how exceedingly impolite we are on the surface and how thoroughly good natured. The latter quality was responsible for the applause which greeted the appearance of the American applause far louder than that accorded to our own champion."

"It seemed to me as he sprang up on the stage where the ring was fixed; it is not the custom in the British navy for even a popular favorite to acknowledge the cheers which greet him. The correct procedure is for him to dive quickly into his corner, where his seconds immediately surround him and hide him from view."

"Not so the American. He merely did what he was accustomed to do at home—paused, a solitary figure in a well-worn dressing gown, and bowed at us as a hotel manager or a shopwalker bows, but with little shy bows which were quite delightful to those of us who knew something of his battling reputation."

"The American did not win; he fought a magnificent, clean fight, and was beaten on points. But it was good to see the real pleasure with which he congratulated the better man."

NOW HAVE A NET QUOTA OF 31 MEN

The Local Board have received a letter from the Governor to the effect that its quota basis is 230 and its current quota 25. Just how this is arrived at, is a puzzle to the Local Board who at the same time received an explanation pamphlet, which doesn't explain, in regarding to the regulations governing apportionment of quota.

This district has inducted into service 141 men and there has been six rejections leaving a net of 155. It is supposed that the District has been credited for volunteer enlistments so that its net quota is now 31 of which 25 the current quota is 30 per cent in the regulations. In other words this district is now subject to 31 men from class 1, which will just about clear it up. The new men at age will of course as soon as they are drawn and examined go into class 1, so that there is little fear of Class two being drawn upon for some time unless it is for special service.

The Board is besieged with inquiries as to the "Work or Fight" story that appeared in all of the papers. They have not received any instructions whatever and before any can be made it will be necessary for the President to make it by proclamation. There is a great deal of needless anxiety on the part of married men who are now in class two, three and four and who are engaged in work that is not considered war work, and by even some who are engaged on the navy yard over this order.

The Board will today send five men to Fort Monmouth to take the place of the men who were rejected for physical reasons. They reported on Friday and will leave here this morning with Austin H. Trueman as leader. The men who will accompany him are: Theodore N. Peckham, Haverhill, John Palmerini, and Julius Myski of this city and Luigi Mercant of Newmarket.

The men to take the place of those rejected at Camp Devens will possibly be sent out next week.

The Board received seven volunteers for limited service men who are to go to an aviation field for special training along mechanical and clerical lines. The seven volunteers are: John D. Long, Dennis Carey, Russell D. Dagher, Thomas H. Edwards, Charles W. Chase and George A. Clough, with one exception all clerks. The Local Board has notified the date, which the spectrograph in the event of clear weather, is expected to reveal many new and startling facts concerning this corona and accompanying spectrum.

The war has had some effect on the plans for observing the phenomenon, many of the scientists who observe such things now being engaged on preliminary study of the great German eclipse, which is due "somewhere in France" at an unknown date.

Stations have been established, however, by the Lick Observatory at Goldendale, the United States Observatory at Baker, Ore., the Yerkes and Mount Wilson observatories at Green River, Wyo., the Allegheny Chamberlain and Veske observatories at Eads, Cal., and the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory at a point in Kansas.

These stations are all on the line to be drawn by the great astral pencil and are situated at all sorts of altitudes to get all possible effects.

The eclipse will begin at 7:09 in the morning at a point south of Japan and will end at the Indiana Islands, east of Florida, at 7:29 in the evening, Greenwich mean time. The shadow will enter the United States at 2:55 in the afternoon, Pacific standard time, or 3:55 daylight saving time, and will leave at 5:41, Central standard time, or 6:41 daylight saving time.

The line of totality will be fifty miles wide and that of semi-totality 150 miles wide. The eclipse will be visible, however, in varying phases all over North and Central America and Japan and a great portion of China and Russia.

Before Copernicus discovered in the sixteenth century that the planets revolve around the sun, eclipses were a source of terror, scientists say. Arabians who men happened on the theory of eclipses some time before, but it was the knowledge to themselves in order that they might strengthen their hold on the illiterate populace by utilizing the phenomenon.

Followers of Copernicus were burned at the stake for their beliefs.

GERMANY THREATENS U. S. PRISONERS

(By Associated Press)
Washington, June 7.—The German government has threatened to use harsh treatment against the Americans in their power because of the imprisonment of Franz Rintelen, the bomb plotter now serving a sentence here.

In a note sent through the Swiss minister the Berlin foreign office has offered to exchange for Rintelen Siegfried Paul London, a German born naturalized citizen of this country now serving time for being accused of a Russian spy. The note stated that an answer was expected before retaliation is made on the American prisoners.

The statement made by the War Department this evening showed that there were 113 American soldiers known to be in the German hands and 218 American citizens interned, including crews of merchant ships. While in this country there are over 5,000 Germans interned and of these 1310 are prisoners of war.

Captain Rintelen was the head of a crew who operated against munition plants and who was convicted to placing bombs on food ships and given four years in prison. Every effort has been made by the Germans to have him released and it is understood that he is a close relative of the Kaiser, in fact closer than it is safe to say any thing about in Germany.

WANTS A LAW THAT CAN'T BE OVERRULED

Washington, June 7.—Incensed because the supreme court recently declared unconstitutional his measure, the child labor law, Senator Owen of Oklahoma has reintroduced the law with an amendment that would automatically throw out of office any judge who declared the law against the constitution. This would apply to supreme court as well as other justices. The new amendment reads:

"The constitutionality of this act having been declared by the competent authority of Congress and of the President of the United States at the time of its passage, shall only by question thereafter by Congress itself, and by the people of the United States in their sovereign capacity as voters. Any executive or judicial officer, who, in his executive capacity, denies the constitutionality of this act shall ipso facto vacate his office. No judge of an inferior court shall permit the question of the constitutionality of this act to be raised in his court over which he presides, and the United States supreme court shall have no appellate power to pass upon the question."

Corns Lift Off

Doesn't hurt a bit to lift any corn or callus off with fingers.

No humbug! You truly can lift off every hard corn, soft corn or corn between the toes, as well as hardened calluses on bottom of feet without one bit of pain.

A genius in Cincinnati discovered freezezone. It is an ether compound and tiny bottles of this magic fluid can now be had at any drug store for a few cents.

Apply several drops of this freezezone upon a tender, aching corn or a callus. Instantly all soreness disappears and shortly you will find the corn or callus so shriveled and loose that you lift it off with the fingers. You feel no pain while applying freezezone or afterwards.

Just think! No more corns or calluses to torture you and they go without causing one twinge of pain or soreness.

Ladies! Keep a tiny bottle of freezezone on the dresser and never let a corn or callus ache twice.

PORTO RICO HAS DONE HER BIT

San Juan, Porto Rico, June 7.—Six million dollars in subscriptions to the three Liberty Loans is in round figures, Porto Rico's investment of money in the war.

On the first loan approximately $700,000 was subscribed in the island while nearly all of the large subscriptions were placed direct in the United States. Subscriptions of sugar companies to the first loan, placed in the states, amounted to close a half million dollars, one subscription alone having been $200,000. Total subscriptions in the island to the second loan were $1,956,900, while to the third loan the total subscriptions were $2,783,050.

With the increase in the total amount subscribed the number of subscribers also increased. The Department of Finance reports 1,877 subscribers to the second loan and 5,714 to the third.

ENGLISH IS TOO GOOD FOR THE HUNS

(By Associated Press)
Amsterdam, June 7.—What the newspaper characterizes as "the filthy and treacherous Teutonic habit of speaking English instead of good, honest, beautiful German" is condemned by the Cologne Volkszeitung, thus:

"Thousands among us would rather tie their tongues into a knot over an 'Irish stew' than use the good German word 'Gulasch.' Is it really indispensable that the English should teach us how to eat and drink?"

More distinguished to say 'farewell' than 'lebewohl,' and on returning it is the correct thing to say 'how do you do?' in answer to which instantly comes the reply, 'Very well,' which is supposed to be more cordial than our 'vorwiegend.'

"These lamentable lapses could be multiplied into the infinite, for there is not a single department of German life which they have not invaded. German people, pray, oh, pray, do honor your own glorious German mother tongue and uproot the rapid English from your memory."

RUSSIANS DON'T WANT PEACE

(By Associated Press)
Stockholm, June 5.—It is the belief that the people of Russia want, above all things, peace at any price, is a mistake, asserts Vladimir Bourisoff, a noted Russian former revolutionary and newspaper man who has arrived here from Finland.

"The Bolsheviks threaten the total destruction of Russia," said Bourisoff to a writer of the Dagens Nyheter. "They attained power by the help of the Germans and by the same means are maintained in power. Bolshevism is a danger not only for Russia but for the whole world and it is necessary that the supporters of its doctrine should be thoroughly defeated. Russia cannot be saved so long as the Bolsheviks are in control. I am convinced they can be conquered and I hope it will not be long before they are suppressed."

"What Russia needs is a government composed of Democrats and Cadets (Constitutional Democrats) with a man like Korniloff or Milyukoff at its head. The idea that the land flows all things peace at any price is a mistake. This would be made plain under another government which, unlike the present, was not dependent on German support."

Bourisoff in the beginning of the war was living in Paris as a refugee. He immediately returned to Russia to offer his services to the government against Germany. He was arrested the moment he reached Russian soil and sent to Siberia. After a year there he was released on the intervention of President Poincaré of France. He returned to Petrograd where he opposed the Bolsheviks. When the revolution broke out he was imprisoned in the fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul. After four months imprisonment he escaped and reached Helsingfors, whence he came to Sweden.

THIS GERMAN WISE MAN IS ALL WRONG

New York, June 7.—America's participation in the war, in the fight against German submarines and on the ship building program were belittled by Vice Admiral von Capelle, German Minister of the Navy in his speech in the Reichstag a few weeks ago, as reported by German newspapers received here.

"The military help of America in the first year of the war was very little regarding troops and airplanes," declared von Capelle. "The expectation of our enemies has been greatly disappointed. If America later wants to maintain half a million troops in France it will need permanently a freight space (on steamships) of about 2,000,000 tons which again would be deducted from the service of supplying her allies."

"According to American and British statements, the participation of such a large army is no longer involved in this campaign."

"In order to carry out the gigantic American program of shipping construction, the ship yards must first be built in 1917 America, following all her huge prodigious, built 60,000 gross tons of sea-going ships. The large merchant fleet which America has ordered is not being built for the war but in order to take the place of England as the world's shipper after the war when the ships will have been completed."

"Discussing the economic situation created by America's entrance into the war von Capelle pointed out that the United States was the most important source of supplies for the belligerent nations. But, he added:— "Owing to the tremendous armament program of President Wilson, such economic difficulties have developed that America's hand of export must now begin to ration herself instead, as had been hoped to aid the Entente nations in increasing measures. All in all, it can be said that the economic difficulties of our enemies have been increased by America's entrance into the war."

In reply to charges that the German submarine program was not progressing as rapidly as it should, von Capelle admitted that Germany's enemies had attained certain successes in their defensive measures against the U-boats. But, he added, they have at no time affected the U-boat warfare in any way destructive and according to foresight will not be able to do so in the future."

"The American U-boat chasers once which much has been made are a failure."

"The convoy system which gives the ships a certain protection on the other hand has great disadvantages. There is not a day in which one or several ships are not shot out of commission."

ENGLISH INCREASE MAIL RATES

London, June 7.—Under the new budget put in a war tariff on mail, this country has been sending letters for a penny—two American cents—for seventy-eight years. Not until 1870 was the postcard introduced. It has required a half-penny stamp, now raised to a penny, for inland delivery.

Posters here express the belief that the increased postal charges will cause more post cards to be used, in announcing the increase of half a penny for letter postage, the chancellor of the exchequer pointed out that the new rates had been fixed by all the big countries of the world.

Crippled Veterans Will Be Cared For.

For a long time a standing question was: "What shall we do with our ex-presidents?" The question is not often heard nowadays, the only two living ex-presidents having demonstrated that they are abundantly able to take care of themselves, and the country having more important business on hand than worrying about the fortunes of men who have had the honor of holding the highest office in the land.

But it seems to be in the American makeup to be miserable without an "issue," and one of the latest issues concerns what is to be done with and for our crippled soldiers after the war is over. Certain well-meaning people are giving their attention to this question in a way to indicate that they consider it of the utmost importance.

A great deal has already been said and printed about how these cripples must be trained to be self-supporting, and the idea was given a fresh boost the other day in Boston at a meeting of the Home Service Division of the Red Cross. One of the speakers was a woman who said: "We must adjust our industry to find places for these men that they may still be contributors to the nation they have helped to save. They must not be beggars, they must be men trained to take their place in industry, although handicapped. Our job is to train industry to receive them by interesting employers in them and scattering the literature of understanding sympathy that is going to give a chance to the wounded soldiers."

While the motives of those who are interesting themselves in this matter are not to be questioned, it is proper to state that worry at this time over the fate of the crippled soldiers after the close of the war is utterly needless and uncalled for. There will be many of them and they will be properly cared for. This government has never yet permitted its disabled defenders to suffer, and it never will. The country is big enough and rich enough to provide for men who have become handicapped in its defense and will never neglect that sacred duty.

It will be proper to assist disabled soldiers into employments which will enable them to partially or wholly take care of themselves, but the suggestion that industries must be shaped to this end is foolish. There is no danger that disabled veterans of this war will ever be beggars. They will have a valid claim on the richest government in the world and that claim will be honored to the full.

One would be led by some of the utterances on this subject to suppose that the country was trembling at the prospective burden of caring for its disabled soldiers, but it is not. It is abundantly able to do all that it will be necessary to do for them, and as willing as it is able. Those desiring assistance in helping themselves will receive it, but the idea that men crippled in the defense of their country must be "trained to be self-supporting," whether or no, is abhorrent to the normal American and will never be sanctioned by popular sentiment.

Under government administration the railroad men are to receive increases in pay amounting to about $300,000,000 a year, and the score is to be evened up by advancing freight and passenger rates to an extent that will yield about $900,000,000. The railroad companies were never prevented from raising wages, but how quickly they were squelched when they wanted to raise rates to offset the cost. It is different with the government.

A war correspondent writes that many of the soldiers feel that there is some profiteering on cigarettes and tobacco in the Y. M. C. A. canteens. He says "The complaint may or may not be justified, but one certainly hears it constantly." The authorities should lose no time in ascertaining whether the complaint is justified or not.

In filling such an office as that of secretary of the State Board of Health the best available man should be procured, regardless of where he comes from. And yet it would seem that somewhere within the bounds of New Hampshire there ought to be a man big enough to fill this office, and fill it acceptably.

The coal situation, as reported in the papers, varies greatly from day to day. A recent report has it that the outlook for New England is much improved and there will naturally be a better feeling until we are told again that the pinch next winter will probably be worse than that of last.

Let none forget that some of this city's present prosperity is due to the activities of the Chamber of Commerce, which is working untiringly for anything and everything that will advance the interests of Portsmouth. And its members have the satisfaction of knowing that their efforts are not in vain.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

WOULD BE RICHER WITHOUT IT

(From the Vancouver Sun)

We are rather inclined to agree with the Kansas City Star that Austria would be willing to lose this war and let whoever finds it keep it.

SHE'S SHAPING SHELLS

(From the New York World)

There is complaint in the cloak and suit trade of a lack of "perfect 36" models. That is a physiqua well adapted for war work, and the fact may explain the deficit.

"MAY I NOT HAVE GOT LOOSE"

(From the Springfield Union)

The old saying, "like father, like son," seems also to apply to sons-in-law in some instances. Lennestwe, Mr. McAdoo is getting into the habit of using the Wilsonian "may I not" in his semi-public correspondence.

A FIGHTING PARSON

(From the Kansas City Times)

The Rev. E. C. Palmer, a Methodist Episcopal preacher of Norwood Park, Chicago, has resigned his pastorate, waived all exemptions, and is on his way to a training camp to serve in the Army as a private soldier.

"The best way I can serve the Lord," he said, "is to help beat the Hun." Which is the declaration of a religious principle worthy the prayerful consideration of the "church militant" everywhere. It's a good time to sing the old Methodist hymn:

Shall I be carried to the skies,
On flowery beds of ease,
While others fight to win the prize
And sail through bloody seas?

7-CENT MILK FOR NEW YORK

(From the New York World)

The Country Milk Company, incorporated under the leadership of N. A. Van Son and former Market Commissioner John J. Dillon, is comprised of farmers owning their own creameries. It proposes to sell Grade B milk in cans to grocers at 6.5 cents a quart, which should make it possible to retail it at 7 cents to shop customers.

Mr. Dillon's new company is not equipped for delivery of bottled milk at the door and it should be noted that this function of delivery, not railroad freights, or pasteurizing, or purchasing, or assembling, or even financing, is the sole prop of the rapacious Milk Trust. Milk production involves a vast capital outlay, great labor, long travel; it is the last five miles that cost the public dear.

How could any person with a heart wish less than well to this experiment? The health of the children has suffered as the result of high prices for milk and its lessened use.

No one has ever succeeded in explaining by what logic the price of milk takes a long jump between the city railway terminal and the home. If the new company can demonstrate that there is no such rule of logic—if it can combine fair prices and increased sales to the farmer with fair cost and generous use to the consumer—it will have done a distinguished public service.

MORE WORK, LESS PARADE

(From the New York Tribune)

We are gradually learning what to do and what not to do to win the war. What was essential and necessary a few months ago is not always necessary today. And when work ceases to be necessary it becomes a dangerous hindrance. It is a waste, and we can more readily lose the war by waste than by any other blunder.

Parading, for instance. Parades of soldiers are not apt to interfere with their training and offer little room for criticism. Parades of civilians, men or women, are another matter. A few months ago we needed them all to bring the war home to every last American. There was inspiration and great benefit from these early marches.

That day is now passing. The Red Cross parade might well be the last of its kind. The huge success of the Red Cross campaign flowed not from its public proceedings, but from its magnificent organized house-to-house canvass. Such a canvass takes time and devotion. But it has been demonstrated to be far and away the cheapest and easiest and fairest method of raising large funds.

No waste time! The fewer holidays the better. The fewer parades of workers the better. Let very minute equant. For it is minutes that will win the war.

A BAD POLICY FOR ANY TIME

(From the New York Herald)

The Supreme Court's recently in declaring the ill conceived Federal child labor law to be unconstitutional is seized upon by Senator Owen as an excuse for bringing forward once again the Oklahoma idea—which is that Congress, and not the court, shall pass upon the constitutionality of an act of Congress. That idea has about as much chance of gaining the approval of the people of this country as the proverbial snowball consigned to the region of perpetual and immeasurable heat has of becoming an iceberg. Before the American people could be expected to trust Congress with the functions of the Supreme Court in addition to its present duties that body would have to occupy a much higher place in the public esteem than it does now or than it ever could if it were to give serious consideration to the Owen proposal. For another thing, a time when Germany and her allies are trying hard to develop the Republic is not a good time for any American to advocate a policy that would tend to its destruction.

WHEN A STRIKE IS TREASON

(From the Philadelphia Press)

The railroad employees who have begun or are threatening to strike just withstanding the increase in wages just granted them by the Government are in a fair way to learn that "things are different now." They are advised that they are now Government employees, and that a strike will be against the Government and an impairment of its efficiency.

If a railway strike should become general it would be a first aid to the Kaiser as it would paralyze the American Government in the conduct of the war. It would, in fact, be high treason. The Government could not submit to it and live. It is a fair inference that it would not choose to submit but would suppress the strike by the same methods that it would use against any other treasonable demonstration that impeded or embarrassed the life and efficiency of the nation.

It is the apprehension that strikes would be suppressed with a mailed hand that has made labor leaders heretofore antagonistic to Government ownership. We have now drifted into Government ownership control, temporarily we hope, because of the public necessities of the war. The chief necessity is that the railroads shall be operated to their full capacity but this is impossible if there is a strike on any part of it. Secretary McAdoo addresses these strikers in a fatherly spirit. He reasons with them gently—but he makes it clear that railroad strikers and Government railway ownership are wholly incompatible and the strikers had better find some other way to settle their grievances if they have any.

To strike against their own Government when it is engaged in the most perilous war in its history is so rankly pro-German and so directly hostile to their own country's interests that it cannot be permitted and these strikers will surely abandon their project when the gravity of their offence is clearly brought home to them.

WHEN TO REDOUBLE YOUR EFFORTS.

"I would save more wheat," she admitted frankly, "if my neighbors would. But when I see all of them still using 50 per cent of wheat in their cooking I lose all of my enthusiasm for cutting my wheat ration to zero or even of reducing it to the eighth ration of one and one-half pounds per week for each person in my family. What's the use? I say to myself, 'My neighbors would waste more than I could possibly save even if I went wheatless.'"

It is true. It is much easier to follow the example of someone else than set an example yourself. But suppose our soldiers should say, "There is no use for us to be brave or to continue fighting because there are slackers in the army," where would we stand in the war today?

The fact that others are making no effort to put their households on a wheatless basis or at least keep to a ration of a pound and a half a week for each individual should be an incentive to you to put your household on an absolutely wheatless basis. There are bound to be cowards and slackers everywhere. We cannot exterminate them. The only thing left for us to do is to redouble our efforts to make up for their delinquencies and also to set them such a shining example of patriotism that they will blush for their cowardice.

So if your neighbors are not doing all you thing they could in saving the nation's wheat redouble your efforts. With the following simple working program, you can easily start the wheatless campaign in your own home. Make cake of barley, corn flour, or rice flour. Bakes pies with only one crust and this of barley or corn meal.

Thicken all gravies and soups with cornstarch, rice or barley or corn flour.

Remember macaroni and spaghetti are wheat products and do not serve them.

At breakfast make home wheatless cereal take the place of any bread, or serve a wheatless hot bread of one kind or another.

For luncheon or supper have these breads cold or toasted, or serve rice, hominy or potatoes instead of bread. Always at dinner have potatoes in place of bread.

After a hearty meal, take Don's Regulators and assist your stomach, liver and bowels. Regulators are a mild laxative, 30c at all stores.

LONG DROUGHT IN TEXAS

Dallas, Texas, June 8.—The long drought which has prevailed in West Texas for two or more years, causing little less than disaster to the cattle raising industry of Texas, has been partly, if not wholly broken. Three good, soaking rains fell in that district within the first seventeen days of May. Grass is now coming out, water holes have been partly filled and a general spirit of optimism prevails with the cattlemen, many of whom staked fortunes on the effort to hold out.

Ranchmen, who had waited from month to month for the rains shipped thousands of heads of cattle out of this district to other ranges. Many dollars were spent by the stockmen on feed to keep alive those few cattle that remained on the ranges. They declare that had the rain been delayed another six weeks, the plains of Texas would have been practically deserted of cattle.

All of Texas west of a line drawn north and south through San Antonio constituted the drought district, practically all of which is devoted to the cattle raising industry. Part of the district, however, contains some agricultural land, devoted mostly to truck farming. Little cotton or corn is grown.

The drought began in some sections late in the autumn of 1914, and almost ever since the cattlemen have had a fight on their hands to save the heads with which the ranches were populated at that time. In 1915 the situation grew more serious and the rainfall was far below normal. Early in 1916 a large part of the district had fair rains, but these were many large areas which had none and others where the rain fell so rapidly that it did little good. Throughout the summer of 1916, all through 1917 and well into 1918 conditions grew steadily worse.

Pioneers of West Texas declare it was the worst dry spell that has fallen over that section in a century. Dust storms which swept the section a few weeks prior to the rains were the worst and most severe experienced in a generation. In San Angelo the dust storm was so severe that all outside work had to be suspended and the sky was so dark that it was necessary to use electric lights for indoor work.

A general index of cattle which had been shipped out of West Texas is expected to begin soon. Cattlemen, however, point out that it will require years to stock the ranches as before the drought hit the ranges.

BRAINS OF GERMAN ARMY

Amsterdam, June 8.—The "Brains of the German Army," according to the Lokal Anzeiger, consists of seven German officers, none of them of higher rank than colonel, and four of them men who have risen from the ranks and belong to the "lower classes."

"It is they," says the newspaper, "who are at Ludendorff's elbow and are in charge of the western offensive. They are the inner High Command, being Ludendorff's personal and immediate war council."

Their names are given under the caption "Men of Action." They are: Colonel von Meir, Lieutenant-Colonel Wetzel, Lieutenant-Colonel Bauer, Major Frahmert, Major von Beckler, Major von Harbou, Captain Geyer.

It is stated that Wetzel is chief of the Intelligence Department, "Lieutenant-Colonel Bauer's forte in intuitive divination of Ludendorff's intentions," says the newspaper.

All of these seven men, it is said, have come to the front since the beginning of the present war. They are characterized as "men of untiring energy, drive, and capacity for quick decision."

CHILDREN SOLDIERS

The boys of the Negro Wolf Home in New Orleans are as staunch soldiers of the U. S. War Garden Army as one could find the country over. These youngsters, some of whom are only seven years old, not only raised enough vegetables last year for themselves, but they supplied the city prisoners, the Home for White Waifs, and had a large enough surplus left over to exchange at the city market for meat and other foods for their own use.

This year they expect to do even more, for the city has given them a steam canner and the boys are setting to work with a will to do not only all they did last year, but to raise a still larger surplus for canning.

Nor are these negro waifs the only loyal soldiers of the U. S. War Garden Army. Children all over the country, in institutions and in homes, in kindergartens, grammar grades and high schools are enrolling for garden work by the thousands. Even in the crowded districts of the large cities there are loyal little garden soldiers raising onions, lettuce, and other vegetables in old boxes wherever they can place them. Altruistic urges high as to who shall have the best crop in these tenement gardens.

Many women's clubs are doing an valuable work by making each member personally responsible for one soldier in the War Garden Army, seeing to it that this particular soldier has a garden space to work. Other women are forming committees in all the larger cities, and it is the business of each member of these committees to note every vacant lot within a certain distance and call up the owner of the property, morning, noon and night, until the distracted property holder would willingly lend his dining table for a War Garden in order to get a little peace.

AMERICAN CHEMISTS SUCCESSFUL.

Washington, June 8.—Although American chemists have been remarkably successful in devising substitutes or equivalents for nearly every product required solely from Germany in pre-war years, it is pointed out tonight in a report of the Federal Tariff Commission's investigation of the chemical industries that American manufacturers of dyals could not hope to compete with German producers after the war unless a cheap source of caustic soda becomes available. The acid is used extensively as a laundry preparator.

Both a sawdust and a gas process have been used in this country in an effort to obtain satisfactory results but without conspicuous success. From 7 to 8 cents a pound in 1913 the price rose to 30 cents in 1915, but as a result of increased imports of Norwegian, Dutch and English acids the figure now has dropped to about 45 cents.

ELECTED FOR SEVENTH TIME.

The annual meeting of the Master Mechanics Association took place recently at Norfolk at which Thomas F. Flanagan of this city was elected president for the seventh consecutive time. The other officers elected were the following:

Vice President, J. H. Von Hermon, Washington.
Treasurer, G. W. Weiss, Norfolk.
Secretary, E. H. Thayer, Boston.
Master at Arms, John P. Chasholm, Philadelphia.

A banquet followed the meeting at the Southland Hotel. The next meeting will be held in Washington.

AND WHICH IS THE BEST?

The return of Sperry Locke to the baseball diamond at Portsmouth will cause debate as to whether he or William Penn Thompson of Concord is the oldest living native ball player in the state—Concord Monitor.

Three years ago there were only 10 persons in the town of Drift, N. H., who played hand or orchestra instruments. Now there are nearly 200. Drift boasts three bands and an orchestra. It has the unique distinction of having a ladies' band, which gives regular Saturday night concerts on the streets.

Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Woods of Dallas, Ore., received a letter from their son, Laura Woods, recently, and in it he stated that he had just received his first mail since arriving in France. The mail consisted of 84 letters and six packages.

PORT OF PORTLAND CLOSED

Portland, June 8.—The steamer Ransom B. Fuller was turned back to port Friday night soon after leaving on her trip to Boston, and an outward bound schooner was also ordered to return. One of the naval coast patrol boats intercepted the Fuller off Cape Elizabeth. It was unofficially reported that the port had been closed and officials of the Eastern Steamship company here said that that was their understanding.

ALLOWANCES CUT OFF.

(By Associated Press)
Washington, June 8.—United States pensioners living in Germany and Austria who have been drawing money from the American government by reason of their services in the civil war or for other reasons, have had their allowances cut off because of their residence in enemy territory. Payment of pensions will not be resumed until peace is declared. Congress has been told, although allowances are sent regularly to those residing in the countries allied against Germany and Austria or in neutral lands.

A report submitted to Congress shows that in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1917, there were 371 Americans residing in Germany entitled to pensions under the laws of this country, and that in Austria-Hungary there were twenty-seven American pensioners. These facts were discussed in the House recently when a bill increasing the pension of civil war veterans to a minimum of $25 a month was under consideration.

Veterans of the civil and Spanish wars entitled to pensions from the United States are living in all parts of the world, and a bill is now pending in Congress to exclude pension privileges to all except those living in the United States or its possessions. Residents of foreign countries include Algeria, the Bahamas, Barbados, Borneo, Cape de Verde Islands, China, Comoro Islands, Egypt, East Africa, India, Isle of France, Liberia, Mexico, Russia, Samoa, Serbia, Seychelles Islands, Siam, Tonga Islands, European and Asiatic Turkey.

All pensioners living in those places and a score of other foreign lands, are receiving pensions regularly, the report to Congress shows, and would receive the benefits of the increases proposed in the new law, while those in Germany and Austria are excluded.

The total number of pensioners residing in foreign countries, including Germany and Austria-Hungary, is 4,085, and the total amount paid them in the last fiscal year amounted to $22,767.69, the report to Congress shows.

AVIATORS TO BE CLASSIFIED

Port Worth, Tex., June 8.—By a "rebreathing machine" here, the first of its kind to be established by the United States government or any of its allies anywhere, aviators flying under the Stars and Stripes henceforth will be classified according to their ability to thrive in high altitudes.

The machine is in a research laboratory at Harrison aviation field, and is in charge of Lieutenant G. H. Hanson, M. W. Thomas and James Blair, who arrived in Port Worth recently from Alameda, N. Y. It produces all the sensations of ascending and descending and has been in use by the German air service. It is said for five years.

Henceforth, no pilot from any of the local fields will be assigned to active duty overseas until he has passed the tests of the contrivance and been classified according to his ability to withstand altitude fatigue. Experience has taught that many air casualties are due to this fatigue, one man will be so affected that he will faint. Another will go along with his flying mechanically and with his mind so dulled that he cannot plan or execute an attack on an enemy. Still another will become stupid and his nerves will not react to the excitement of battle.

The pilots will be divided into three classes. In the first class will be placed aviators who are never affected by altitude fatigue and who can ascend and fight anywhere their planes will mount.

In the next class will be those whose mental faculties are dulled by high altitude.

And in the last or third, will be those who faint under the stress.

NO RED CROSS WORK MONDAY.

As no material has come for the August "dressing" there will be no work in the Red Cross rooms on Monday. A notice will be published when the same comes. There is plenty of work now and it can be obtained Monday and Wednesday and all day Thursday as usual.

N. H. SONS OF REVOLUTION IN SESSION

Concord, June 8.—The New Hampshire Society, Sons of the American Revolution, at its annual meeting held Friday in the New Hampshire Historical Building, honored Hon. Henry H. Metcalf by choosing him president of the society for the ensuing year. Other officers elected were: Vice-presidents, Harry T. Lord, Manchester; Walter S. Baker, Concord; Ashley K. Hardy, Hanover; Rufus H. Baker, Concord; registrar, Charles C. Jones, Concord; chaplain, Rev. James P. Waterman, Hanover; board of managers, Charles E. Stannish, Concord; Thomas J. Pillsbury, Concord; Jesse G. MacMurphy, Derry; committee on nominations, S. Howard Bell, Derry; Walter S. Baker, Concord; Sherburne L. Swazey, Concord.

The annual address was delivered by Col. John H. Bartlett of Portsmouth, in which he turned upon the international conditions pertaining to the world war. "The probable and most logical issue of the present conflict," he said, "is a firm alliance between the nations now opposed to the standard of German Kultur which shall be eradicated permanently."

The present membership of the society is 218. Five deaths have occurred in the year. John Dowst of Manchester, Rev. J. L. Seward of Keene, William F. Whitaker of Woodsville, Dr. Irving A. Watson of Concord and William M. Chase of Concord.

The treasurer reported $337.55 on hand.

INLAND WATERWAYS INVALUABLE.

The destruction of the vessels off our coasts reminds us that the inland waterways from Maine to Florida will be invaluable aid in time of war and a great aid in times of peace, because it would furnish cheap transportation not only to the Atlantic states but to and from the West by the way of the Erie canal and Hudson river. A waterway convention in the interest of this inland waterways will be held in Boston this year. Its object is an inland waterway from Maine to Florida. This of course includes New Hampshire, in but our state nature has furnished a waterway almost across it, Exeter river, Great Bay and Piscataqua—only a short cut would connect it with the Merrimack river from Exeter and Amesbury. The convention will discuss that part of the inland waterway from Boston to Maine through New Hampshire. This makes New Hampshire interested in the convention.

DEVELOPMENT OF WAR CONSCIOUSNESS

"The American people must arrive at that state of mind which prevails in France and England," said a speaker recently returned from abroad. "That is, they must have so definite and complete a war consciousness that they consider every act of life, no matter how small, as a factor in winning or losing the war. That way lies the quickest victory."

Many Americans have "are" at this point.

"I cannot eat wheat bread any more," said a well-known man. "It seems to choke me when I realize how much it is needed over there."

That man had been awakened by war conditions. He had given no thought to his food supply for many years. Save to plan for having the very best of everything that the market provided. But now he has developed a war consciousness.

There are still too many, however, who have no realization of the urgent need to save flour to go across the sea. They care more for their own whims of appetite than for the defeat of the enemy. Their Americanism as well as their common sense is a dead letter.

Take thought of what you eat day by day.

Saving wheat is as good as proof of being a 100 per cent American as can be given just now.

OBITUARY

Mr. William B. Martin.

Mr. William B. Martin, an old time resident of this city, passed away on Friday at the home of his daughter Mrs. Luella Bradley of Cambridge after an illness of some months.

He was born in this city May 17, 1832, and has made his home here the greater part of his long and useful life.

He was educated here and then learned the sparmakers trade, and he for many years conducted a spar yard on Green street, on what is now the Silas Police property.

Mr. Martin was a staunch Republican in politics and during President Grant's administration was appointed U. S. gauger for the Portsmouth district, which included Newburyport, Manchester and other places in this section. He ably filled this position for over 10 years resigning a short time ago owing to impaired health. He was a member of the board of aldermen in 1880.

He possessed a retentive memory and few men were better posted on matters pertaining to this city. He was the oldest member of St. John's Lodge, No. 1, A. F. & A. M., also affiliated with Washington Chapter No. 3, U. A. M., Davenport Council, No. 6, R. A. S. M., and De Witt Clinton Commandery, Knights Templar. He was also the oldest member of the time honored Mechanics Fire Society. He is survived by his wife and one daughter, also a brother, B. Frank Martin of this city. Mr. Martin had had a wide acquaintance and his death will cause sorrow to many who had known him in his official capacity.

The funeral service will be held from the home of Miss Hanson, No. 40 Islington street, at 2 o'clock, Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Isabelle Plaisted

Mrs. Charles Plaisted widow of Charles Plaisted died on Friday at the home of her sister Mrs. James Raitt 100 Deer street after a brief illness, age 72 years.

LEVANGIE LOSES HIS CASE IN COURT

Had Brought Suit Against Light & Power Co. for Alleged Negligence.

The jury in the case of Eugene Levangie of Newfields vs. the Trucking County Light and Power company of this city on Friday afternoon brought in a verdict for the defendant after being out for about two hours.

The case has been on trial all of the week commencing Monday, and was a suit for $20,000 brought for alleged negligence on the part of the company. The plaintiff was a member of a picnic party on the Plecker farm at Newington when he climbed a pole, saying he was to make a speech to the party, and came in contact with the high tension wire by reaching up above his head to steady himself. He was badly burned and taken to the Portsmouth hospital, where he was a sufferer for a long time.

The arguments were made Friday morning, George T. Hughes of the firm of Hughes and Deane of Dover for the defendant and Stafford County Solicitor Albert Sherry of Dover for the plaintiff. Court will come in again Monday at 10.30, and will probably be in session here during the week.

Work in three coal mines at Otisville, Ill., employing 450 men was stopped the other day following the receipt of a telegram by one miner from his mother-in-law. She is a Spiritualist, and gave a warning she declared she had received from her dead husband. The message was received from Kansas City, and asserted an accident would befall the miners if they went to work.

that an upholstery department in a furniture store is only a dirty den occupied by a bewhiskered old fossil who tears the stuffing out of mattresses, shakes it once or twice and sews it in again. Not so, in this place at least. Our upholstery department is managed by a man who has had the best kind of training—years of practical experience. He knows his business and how best to serve you. Not only does his branch of this store renovate, make and clean mattresses. His work includes refinishing, patching, upholstering old and valuable furniture; relining baby carriages, making cushions for canoes, chairs and window seats and even sets of bases for baseball diamonds. CAPTURED BY GERMANS

London, June 8.—Major Leslie Faber, who before the war was a well-known English actor, and who was reported "missing" from the western front a few weeks ago, is now an unwounded prisoner in German hands, according to dispatches received through the Red Cross organization.

Major Faber is a son-in-law of Henry Arthur Jones, the dramatist. He was playing in "Diplomacy" in the United States in 1915, but left the production to join the army as a second lieutenant.

PENSIONS INCREASED

Washington, June 8.—The House today accepted the increased pension bill, giving a minimum monthly pension to Civil War soldiers of $10 and a maximum of $19, graduated according to age and length of service. The amendment supersedes the House bill, which graduated pensions from $2 a month.

This tract of land is only eight minutes' walk from the depot and you can save time and carfare. Five and seven room houses are now being built, to cost from $2200 to $3000, finished inside with hard wood flooring, N. C. pine finish, electric lights, asphalt, slate roof, painted complete inside and out, ready for occupancy.

The price of lots is from $175 to $200, which can be bought now with a first payment of $50. Plans of lots and houses can be seen daily or Sunday on the premises.

NEW MEN NOW SUBJECT TO DRAFT

List of Registrants in This District Who Have Reached Age of 21 Years

The following list is the registration of men who have reached the age of twenty-one since June 5, 1917, and are now subject to the selective service draft. There are 170 names and they are published as the list was a year ago so that those who have failed to register may be called to the attention of the local board. This registration, as has been the case all over the country, has fallen a little below the estimate, but the explanation is that there are many thousands of young men at that age who are already in the service and do not register.

SYSTEM AT CAMP DEVENS JUSTIFIED

Camp Devens, June 8.—Conservation of food and other inanimate resources is not, according to the officers of this institution, the all-important economy that must be practiced to insure the winning of the war. Conservation of men, it is maintained, heads the list of essential practices, and it is because of an early realization of this fact and the methods carried on in maintaining the physical standard of the division that its men today are the most fit of all National army organizations.

Devens Doctors Vindicated.—The requirements of the medical department have been criticized from time to time as being unnecessarily strict, but the final elimination of men unsuited to overseas service, now in progress in all National army divisions, shows the undoubted wisdom of the course that has been pursued here. The last examination of the men of the Seventy-Sixth is now complete and the number of men to be left behind is unexpectedly large, being approximately 2500 in place of one-half that number that it was expected would be found physically unfit. The significant feature of the showing is that ninety per cent of the soldiers who have made the proportion so high are those who were recently sent here from Camp Upton, Yaphank, N. Y., and were assigned to the various Seventy-Sixth division units. Very few of them are found to be in condition to warrant prolonged efficiency on the other side and consequently they will be left for further training and physical perfecting in the Depot Brigade.

According to the letter now shared by the War Department a soldier does not have to be visibly sick or crippled to make him unfit for foreign service. But if his condition is such that in the opinion of the medical experts he may not be able to stand the tremendous strain and hardship which he is bound to encounter sooner or later over there he is not fit to go. It is not only a matter of present fitness but of probable future endurance and efficiency for it is figured that to send a man across who will soon become a burden rather than an asset and have to be retransported to the United States is worse than to send no man at all.

AMERICANS CONTINUE THEIR OFFENSIVE

(By Associated Press.)
There has not been any let up of the offensive of the American and French troops against the Germans in the region northwest of Chateau Thierry, where the fighting has been very severe and where the American marines have distinguished themselves. The fighting has been continued with great ferocity along a front of six miles from Vinley to a point north of Neuilly-le-Potier to Bouresches and the American and French have captured these towns and also prisoners. The town of Torcy has fallen into the hands of the Americans and no where along the line has the Germans been able to stand the assault of the Americans. The Marines have never failed to take a backward step and they have control of all of the ground taken and have captured part of it by the use of the cold steel and when surrounded they have fought their way through the gray class line of the Germans. From all accounts there has been no style of modern warfare that the Marines have not had a hand in and conducted themselves like veterans. The loss to the enemy is exceedingly heavy, and the ground taken is of high strategic value, being the high ground about this important avenue where the Germans hoped to break through and make their way to Paris. The casualties of Germans was particularly severe in Bouresches, where there was direct fighting and where the Americans pushed the Germans back through the town, with the bayonet. The plans of the command officers did not include the capture of Torcy, but the Marines did not let it go, and took the town, twenty-five miles driving 200 Germans out of the town.

Hard held is the rest of the front from Soissons to Rheims where the enemy have made some heavy attacks but all have been thrown back. The French attack at Blancy resulted in that village falling into the hands of the French after a severe struggle, and there is still great activity in that region.

BADGE FOR DISCHARGED MEN

Washington, June 8.—Officers designated by General Peyton C. March, chief of staff, testified before the House Committee on Military Affairs

Friday in favor of the bill presented by Congressman John Jacob Rogers of Massachusetts to give a distinctive badge or button to men honorably discharged from the army. Mr. Rogers also spoke. A favorable report is expected.

TIME FOR SERIOUS THOUGHT.

After the battle and excitement of the day, and the dear ones are tucked in, we all are apt to feel that we are doing all that is possible for their comfort. But let's get right down to the real good serious thought about their future. We are good providers, and we are very anxious that our family should have all the good things necessary for their welfare; and they do, no doubt. (While we are in the harness.) But, just as sure as we were born, the inevitable is bound to happen. When, no man knoweth.

It isn't a matter of what can be afforded when it comes to the vital question of more life insurance protection, for with some men it is pure, downright neglect. If the expense of providing is double today, isn't it reasonable to assume that one should double his protection?

Don't let your innocent ones take the chance any longer. Settle it now, when you are able to pass the physical test required.

If you think they are deserving of more protection, call on a life insurance man, tonight, before you sleep another wink. Should you call me I'll come right over and fix it up. I don't care what hour. It's for "their" sake, you know. (Don't say you can't afford it. The price of just one smoke, if placed with the New England Mutual, represents one thousand dollars. This is the oldest in the United States, and the only perfectly mutual company. Make me prove it.)

H. L. CASWELL, District Mgr.

BENNY KAUFF DRAFTED

Rodigera was arrested in May and he considered the master mind of the German secret service here. Another indictment was against John T. Ryan of Buffalo, a lawyer, whose name was prominently mentioned in the plot to blow up the Wilmington canal.

WOULD HAVE SAVED BUILDING ONE NOW

Proposed School House Recalls Effort Made in 1911 to Erect One on Almshouse Field.

The proposed schoolhouse at Christian Shore is a reminder of the effort that was made by the Portsmouth delegation in the legislature in 1911 to have the state erect a normal school on Almshouse field on Denney street, using the material in the Almshouse.

A committee from the legislature visited this city and thought the site favorable for the project. If this schoolhouse had been built at that time it would have saved building one now, because room in it could accommodate the children of the shipyard workers.

CONDUCTING HEARING AT THE NAVY YARD

Shop Men Claim Unjust Treatment on Part of Master Mechanic.

A hearing has been in progress for the past two days at the navy yard which was ordered by the department as the result of a petition from the men in one of the yard shops who claim unjust treatment on the part of the master mechanic.

A board of officers is conducting the case. A civilian lawyer is representing the workmen and a navy officer is looking after the interests of the master mechanic. A recess has been taken for a few days.

FLAG DAY SHOULD BE FITTINGLY OBSERVED

Public Exercises on June 14 Would Be In Keeping with Purpose of the Day.

Flag Day, which comes on Friday, June 14, should have more than ordinary observance this year when our boys are "over there" following the Stars and Stripes on the battlefield. Here is another opportunity to show the patriotism of the people and it does seem as if some special public Flag Day exercises should be planned for in our city and that in the public schools special programs be given by the children that the significance of Flag Day be felt even more strongly and fill the hearts of both old and young with enthusiasm as never before.

Portsmouth should have the Stars and Stripes flying from every public building, business house and residence on Flag Day and have the display of our national emblem greater than ever, the emblem which stands for liberty and human rights.

NEW GARAGE IS ALMOST COMPLETED

Other Buildings at Standard Oil Co.'s Plant Soon to Be Started.

Work on the construction of the new buildings at the Standard Oil Company's plant on Nobe's Island is progressing slowly but steadily. On account of the scarcity of labor there is only one half the regular sized gang working at the present time.

The new garage is completed with the exception of putting on the roof which it is expected will be accomplished by the middle or last of next week. This building is 32 feet wide and 70 feet long affording plenty of space for the company's machines.

The other buildings which are to be erected include a warehouse, pump house, stable and carriage house. Work has not been started on these yet but is expected to shortly if labor conditions are favorable. The matter of a wharf for the plant is as yet undecided.

A bounteous dinner was served at noon and much of the day devoted to Red Cross knitting. The hostess entertained her guests in a most hospitable manner and late in the afternoon the participants left for their homes.
